The 'Multiball' cluster of opaque globes by Roberto Paoli for ModoLuce is ideal if you have a large dining space, where light needs to be evenly distributed across a big table or kitchen counter. Here, the pendants are suspended at different heights from rods, which fit into movable metal junction stirrups. This allows for flexible arrangements, with multiple ceiling light points, that can be adapted to suit your space. Get the look For similar bright-white spheres, visit Edge Interiors for Moooi's range of unique pendant lights. ▶
